A Trip with the American Council of Young Political Leaders
With Mandy Wright

In December of 2014 Mandy Wright traveled to the Middle East with the American Council of Young Political Leaders. ACYPL is a nonpartisan nonprofit that takes nominations from alumni of the program to travel to various parts of the world the United States has strong foreign policy ties. Only seven travelers from across the USA, 25 to 40 years old, and connected to local, state, or national politics, are chosen for each delegation. The purpose of this program is to have the opportunity to learn in person about political, economic, and cultural issues that affect the region and U.S. policy.

Mandy Wright is a native of Wausau Wisconsin. After graduating from Wausau East, she attended St. Olaf College and spent semesters in both Indonesia and Norway. She has been a grade 6-12 English and English Language Learner teacher for ten years, earning a Master’s of Education along the way.

In 2013 and 2014, Mandy served as the Representative to the 85th Assembly District encompassing Wausau and eastern Marathon County. She is looking forward to engaging with attendees on the political, economic, and societal factors that influence the ongoing quest for peace in this fascinating part of the world.
