How to take tests...

1. Read the instructions carefully. Glance at the entire exam to see where you’ll earn the most points.

2. Look to see if answering questions that will be easy for you will earn as many points as the more difficult questions. If so, complete the easy questions first. After answering them you’ll have more confidence. Do not start with the most difficult questions, get stuck on them, and then panic when you begin to run out of time.

3. Read each question carefully to grasp exactly what it is asking you to do. If the stem of the question says “What is an argument against...,” then respond as requested. Do exactly what the instructor requests!

4. When you find an extremely difficult question or one you don’t understand, move on to easier questions. Come back later to the ones you skipped. This reduces anxiety, saves time, and lets your subconscious mind search for the answer while you think about other items. Skipping past hard items is also practical because sometimes you find a clue to the answer in questions that follow.
